

Special Issue Call for Papers: Intercultural New Media Research

Guest Editor:

Robert Shuter, Marquette University, USA

The Journal of Intercultural Communication Research (JICR) invites submissions for a special issue devoted to intercultural new media research guest edited by Robert Shuter. The special issue will examine the impact of new media in the following areas:

- text messaging,
- social media,
- blogs, and
- multi-media on-line games on intercultural communication.

The aim of the special issue is to publish cutting edge research, from any methodological approach, that reports data-based findings on the effects of new media on communication between cultures, co-cultures, nations, multinational organizations, and/ or governments worldwide.

Further information about JICR can be found here.

Submission Guidelines:

Manuscripts should conform to submission guidelines described on the JICR website and will be subject to blind reviews in accordance with JICR policy.

Submissions for the special issue must be received by the 1st October 2011, and should be submitted electronically via Manuscript Central per JICR requirements.

Inquiries should be directed to the guest editor: Robert Shuter, Professor of Communication Studies, Marquette University, robert.shuter@marquette.edu

New
Editorial
Board team

For further instructions on submissions, visit the journal homepage:

Taylor & Francis

Journal Details

Journal of Intercultural Communication Research

A publication of the World Communication Association. Visit the organization site.

Published By: Routledge

Volume Number: 12

Frequency: 3 Issues per year

ISSN: 1744-2725

Online ISSN: 1744-2727

Subscribe Online | Free Sample Copy | Table of Contents Alerting | View Full Pricing Details

Aims & Scope

The Journal of Intercultural Communication Research (JICR) is a publication of the World Communication Association. JICR publishes qualitative and quantitative research that focuses on interrelationships between culture and communication. Generally, research published in JICR explores non-mediated contexts. Submitted manuscripts may report results from either cross-cultural comparative research or results from other types of research concerning the ways culture affects human symbolic activities. Studies reporting data from within a single nation/culture should focus on cultural factors and explore the theoretical or practical relevance of their findings from a cross-cultural perspective.

Free Review Policy:

All manuscripts submitted for publication to the Journal of Intercultural Communication Research are initially reviewed by the Editor for appropriate content and style. If approved by the Editor, manuscripts are then reviewed by two anonymous reviewers in a double-blind online process. Reviewers are chosen by the Editor based on their expertise with submitted manuscripts topics, authorship, and research field. On special occasions, to increase transparency,